VANDERLIP SUE FOR $600,000 BY OWNERS OF STAR

New York Banker Says

THREE CHARGES

Vanderlip Says Court Proceedings
Will Make Public Things People Ought to Know

Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Frank A. Vanderlip, retired banker, in reply to the $600,000 libel suit filed against him yesterday by owners of the Marion Star, declared he welcomed the suit and expressed the hope that it would be the forerunner of court proceedings which would make public some of the important newspaper news that he had printed. He added he was prepared to spend quite as much for these court proceedings in an effort to make public this news than which, he said, this country needs so much this moment as some court proceedings inflated by grand juries and pressed by incorruptible prosecuting attorneys.

The Star owners bring the suit for three causes.

The first cause sets forth that Mr. Vanderlip "wickedly and maliciously charged" the Star and its owners with being "warped, warped, then President of the United States, to fail to perform duty of his official duties as President, and that the bribe consisted in the payment to former President Harding of $500,000 in the purchase of the Marion Star, which was more than twice its fair value."

The second cause of action was further charged, accused the plaintiffs of "being financially irresponsible and insolvent and not able to meet their financial obligations, and not entitled to credit."

The third cause of action was based upon the charge that Mr. Vanderlip caused his speech to be printed in the New York Tribune.

The Star is based upon the admission of Mr. Vanderlip before the senate investigating committee that he signed a copy of the speech which was read to him in his office in New York.

KINCAID GOES TO GRAFTON PAPER

Former Daily News Editor to Be Business Manager, West Virginia
Daily

R. L. Kincaid, former managing editor of the Middlesboro Daily News, has taken a position as business manager of the Grafton Daily Sentinel, of Grafton, W. Va., and will start work there at once. His family of Harrogate, Tenn., will probably move there soon.

Grafton is a town of about 10,000, a coal and lumber center and is ideal for a newspaper opening. Mr. Kincaid is well fitted for such a position and his many friends in this section are confident that he will make good.

Mr. Kincaid was very active in civic matters here; was secretary of the Kiwanis Club and leader in road boosting. Grafton is very fortunate in getting such a booster in connection with its daily newspaper.

Postmaster John H. Miller announces that the postoffice will be closed Friday, Washington's birthday, a legal holiday. The stamp, general delivery and parcel post windows will be open from 8 to 9 o'clock Friday morning.

WORK ON CITY ASSESS-

MENTS NOW UNDER WAY

Work of making city assessments is in progress, the stores and other business establishments being assessed now. The work is necessarily slow as much detail work is involved in making the business assessments. Other properties will be assessed when the work now being done is finished, the assessor planning to take it by sections. It is thought that it will take until May to complete the entire job.

JERRY REED CASE TO JURY TODAY

Dr. Winnes Cleared in Testimony
Again—Reed Takes Stand
Yesterday

RICHMOND, Ky., Feb. 21.—Testimony given at the trial of Dr. H. C. Winnes on a charge of murdering Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain school teacher, September 7, 1920, was offered by the defense yesterday in the trial of Jerry Reed, negro and former convict, charged with the murder. The case is expected to go to the jury today.

Three negro convicts were not allowed to testify by Judge W. R. Shackelford, but were permitted to make statements to the court stenographer.

Martha Howard, who resides at Dillon, a railroad station near Pine Mountain, stated that Miss Parsons stopped at her home about 30 minutes the day of the murder, and changed her shoes there. Dr. Winnes came to the house for a drink, she said.

Jerry Reed, the defendant, took the stand in his own behalf shortly after 4 o'clock, following damaging testimony previously given by Heber Iff, who is now a prisoner at Edenville. Reed denied the statement made by Harmon Collier, a former convict, that while he was a prisoner, at Frankfort, he had made the remark that he thought he was being "framed" by John Bramley, a former convict, now dead, but that he wasn't worrying, as he had a man "high up" behind him, and that, if he was convicted, some more men would be "sent up" with him.

Reed also denied the testimony given containing a pocketbook from a table in the deputy warden's office, at Frankfort, in 1921, where Hix was serving as a trustee, as previously stated by Hix. Reed's testimony regarding his actions the day of the murder was practically a repetition of the testimony he gave at the trial of Doctor Winnes.

LUTHER HOSKINS, PINEVILLE BOY, DROWNED IN RIVER

PINEVILLE, Feb. 21.—Luther Hoskins, 15 year old boy of the Bailey Camp neighborhood, lost his life in Cumberland river Monday night, when he failed to reach shore after jumping out of a boat in which he and a companion were riding. Hoskins was a good swimmer but it is believed that he suffered cramps while swimming for the bank. The body has not been found.

Hoskins and his companion got a boat and were going down the river below Varilla. As they approached the dam they became frightened, fearing that the boat would be overturned. The river was up and the boat was moving rapidly. Both boys jumped out but only one was able to reach the shore. The boat passed over the dam successfully without even extinguishing the light in it, according to persons who saw the boat after the accident.

Young Hoskins was a popular boy with golfers at the Pineville Country club where he had caddied many times. He was the son of Nath Hoskins, of Bailey's Camp.

REFUSES RAISINS UNSUITABLE FOR MAKING LIQUOR

HARLAN, Feb. 21.—Suit was filed in the Circuit Court by the Middlesboro Wholesale Grocery company against Ira H. Fields, plaintiff, who is alleged to have shipped raisins which the defendant had ordered in the above suit. The defendant claims that the raisins would not be suitable for the making of intoxicating drinks, as were used by the people at Lynch. It will be interesting to note whether the court will allow such a defense, and consider it good.

HUGE STILL TAKEN ON GOOSE CREEK

Reported 1100 Gallon Capacity—Two Arrested With It Held At Pineville on Bond

James Vaughn and Lige North, charged with having a still in their possession, waived preliminary hearing before Commissioner J. G. Rollins at Pineville this week and are held under bond. The still, which was captured a few days ago on Goose Creek by Hays Green, the Taylor and Ben Wyatt, is reported to be of 1100 gallons capacity, the largest ever found in the mountain section. The men were brought to the Pineville jail where they remained until arraigned before Commissioner Rollins.

HARRISVILLE, Feb. 21.—The largest still ever found in this section of the mountains, was captured by officers Hays Green, the Taylor and Ben Wyatt on Goose Creek at the head of Disappointment branch. The still has a capacity of 1100 gallons. It had been in use about 15 years and might be a former government still. Workmanship on the metal container and three-drum coil was finer than the ones manufactured by the mountaineers. A 22-gallon kerosene keg and 14, 50-gallon barrels were confiscated. The men arrested in connection with finding the still were James Vaughn and Lige North, both of whom were taken.

BLOODHOUNDS FAIL TO FIND CARBOURVILLE THIEVES

Bloodhounds from La Follette failed to trace the thieves who robbed the local garment company at Carbourville Tuesday night, according to reports received from there today. The dogs, however, followed the scent to a place where cars park and it is thought that the robbers escaped in an automobile from this point.

A recent check indicates that spring merchandise valued at approximately $1500 was taken from the store which is owned by Mr. Vincent. Twenty-one dresses and 22 pairs of hose were in the loot. The owner is offering a substantial reward for the capture of the thieves and recovery of the goods.

BRADNER IN FRANKFORT IN INTEREST SCHOOL LEGISLATION

Supt. J. W. Bradner has returned from Frankfort where he had been for the past two days in the interest of legislation now pending which, it is believed, will be beneficial to the state school system. He is a member of the K. E. A. committee appointed to influence such legislation and was at the state capital in that capacity.

U.S. EMPLOYS MILLION AND HALF CHILDREN

Gain 40 Per Cent Since
Child Labor Laws
Annulled

SEARCH STATES

One of Every Twelve Children From 12 to 15 Years Old In Country Is At Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—More than 1,500,000 children are employed in the United States today.

This statement is based on figures returned by a score of the country's larger cities.

Such statistics show an average increase of 40 per cent over the year 1920 in the number of children granted permits to work.

Last census returns listed 100,858 between 10 and 15 years as working.

Of this number, 78,003 were between 10 and 13 years.

Subsequent increase is attributed to removal of safeguards provided by the nullified child labor laws.

Investigation establishes that for the country as a whole, one out of every 12 children between 10 and 15 is at work.

That in 10 states more than 10 per cent of children between 10 and 15 are at work.

That more children are employed in agricultural pursuits than in any other line of work.

That child workers leave school at early grades.

Of 19,000 children examined during operation of the first federal child labor law, 26.9 per cent were unable properly to sign their names, laws by child welfare workers.

Conditions are summarized as follows:

Pennsylvania—In the anthracite fields federal child welfare investigators found boys of 14 working in the breakers. Newcomers thus employed who cut their fingers are known as "reel tops."

Maryland—During the summer oil truck farms young children are work long hours under insanitary conditions.

California—Young children work long hours on fruit farms. These children are deprived of schooling. They follow the crops with their parents in motor caravans.

Michigan—Children as young as four years old work from sunup to sundown during the summer on beet farms.

Texas—Very young children work in the cotton fields.

Georgia—Boys of 14 1-2 work at night.

New England States—Young children sacrifice eyesight, and health working at home making cheap jewelry and at other incidental tasks requiring close application.

Mississippi—Boys and girls from 6 to 14 shuck oysters and peel shrimp. Canneries are exempted from the state law.

North Carolina—Boys and girls of 14 work 11 hours a day in cotton mills. Boys of 12 may work in mills and factories when schools are not in session and when necessary to the support of their families under special permit.

Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Michigan and Virginia—Canneries are exempted from the nightwork law in these states as regards the employment of children.

Nevada, South Dakota, Texas and Utah—These states place no prohibition on the employment of children at night.

Majority to Accept Minority Report
Ruled Out—Decision on Bill
Not Made This Morning

By Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 21.—Before the Senate met today Senator Simmons, chairman of the committee on Kentucky statutes said the committee would adversely report the Bennett Anti-Paternalist bill with Senator Dyeus, only member of the committee, not against the bill. Dyeus said he would present the minority report.

When the Senate assembled, Simmons was in line with a statement presenting the committee's unfavorable report. Dyeus presented the minority report which Senator John Lee moved to be accepted, but the motion was ruled out of order. Meanwhile the regular order of business was pursued and when the Senate adjourned for lunch the bill had not been reached.

KNOXVILLE MAN KNOWN HERE HAS DISAPPEARED

Associated Press

KNOXVILLE, Feb. 21.—Captain James G. Kyle, son of Dr. A. G. Kyle, of Knoxville, who was assigned with the Twenty-ninth Infantry regiment of the United States army mysteriously disappeared February 9, while en route from Knoxville to Columbus, Ga., where he was to resume his duties after a three-day leave of absence.

The young officer was summoned to Knoxville February 6, when his father received injuries and was considered in a serious condition.

When he failed to reach camp pending the commanding officer began inquiring about him and relations in Knoxville were asked about him.

Inquiry at the residence of Dr. Kyle yesterday disclosed the fact that Captain Kyle arrived Tuesday, February 5, and left Knoxville on Thursday, February 7. Investigation started in this city, revealed that the young officer purchased a ticket from this place to Columbus. He left over the Louisville & Nashville railroad.

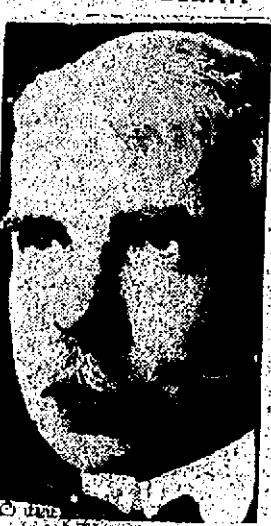

Captain Kyle was educated at Lincoln Memorial University, and has many friends in this vicinity who are deeply concerned over his disappearance.

PLAN FOR BUY IN MIDDLESBORO WEEK

Meeting of Committees Yesterday to Discuss Details for Program

Detailed plans for making the "Buy in Middlesboro Week" campaign a success were discussed at a meeting of the committees last night. G. A. Talbot, general chairman of the campaign committee, presided.

The week will be the first of April. George Callison, chairman of the committee on decorations, will confer with all merchants and urge them to have attractive window displays and special demonstrations wherever possible.

Frank L. Lee, chairman of the committee to confer with wholesalers and manufacturers, will ask the cooperation of these classes of business men and request them to have special displays and demonstrations of their products.

H. E. Verran is chairman of the style show committee. According to present arrangements, the show will be held at the Mairing theatre in the afternoon during the early part of the week. Merchandise of Middlesboro stores will be demonstrated on the stage. Their actual use will be shown by persons who take part in the show. At the end of the demonstration part of the show, there will be a reception in which men will appear in correct evening dress and women in evening gowns.

W. E. Frazer, chairman of the advertising committee, will work out the details of the advertising campaign. A number of circulars, descriptive of the event, will be sent out in advance of "Buy in Middlesboro Week." Special editions of the Daily News and Three States are also planned. H. C. Chappell and Miss Della Richards are members of the advertising committee and will assist in working out the details.

M. H. S. BOYS LOSE TO LON-

The Middlesboro high school basketball team lost to London high school 33 to 16 last night at London. The local boys seemed somewhat off their usual game. Brown played a good game, though, shooting 12 points. Play was very rough, the boys reported. They are now preparing for a game here Saturday night with Wolf Springs.

MORE THAN 100 CITY

AUTO LICENSES UNPAID

More than 100 automobile owners have not paid their 1923 privilege license, according to figures compiled by Frank Kearns, city collector. A vigorous campaign for the collection of these will be launched within a few days. Those who have not paid will not only be compelled to buy the license but will also be fined if they do not pay before the matter is placed in the hands of officers, the collector says.

A number of cars were bought last year on which the city license were not paid, this forming a large percentage of the total. There are many owners who owned cars the entire year who utterly disregarded the city privilege license.

Several business and professional men have not paid their 1923 license. Doctors, and all men engaged in any profession or business are subject to city tax each year and may be fined for each day that the business is conducted for the profession, license date limit. There will also be practiced after the expiration of the license collected in the campaign.

SENATE BRINGS OUT DAUGHERTY BOUGHT STOCK

Great Pressure To Be

New Findings of Committee to Be Revealed at Resumption of Oil Inquiry
Monday

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The report that Attorney-General Daugherty bought and sold Sinclair oil stock is under investigation by the Senate Oil Committee. They said, however, the investigations were comparatively small and resulted ultimately in a sale of stocks at a loss. It is understood that the matter has laid before the president.

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Having failed to induce the President immediately to remove Attorney-General Daugherty, critics in the Senate today laid a plan which they predicted would force him to resign. Preparations are made to lay before the country the public new information and charges that recently have reached senators and to make even clearer the belief of Republican senators that he would no longer be permitted to sit in the cabinet. It was revealed today that much of the material collected had been withheld in the hope that the President would voluntarily clear his administration of those attacks by Congress. Among other things, special investigators reported at least one senator and cabinet official purchased Sinclair oil stock. The name of the cabinet member will not be revealed until after resumption of the senate oil inquiry Monday.

KIWANIS TALK ABOUT PARK AGAIN

Committee Will Act on Project This Week—Judge Anderson Speaker,
John Burnett Chairman

"The Father of the Nation," whose birthday anniversary comes tomorrow, was remembered by the Kiwanis Club chairman, John Burnett, today in decorations and the attendance prize. Little American flags were given as favors and a hatched, nationally decorated, was the attendance prize drawn by Judge J. D. Anderson.

At the beginning of the meeting, the club discussed at some length the matter being brought up by Russ Hill who read a clipping telling of the appointment of a committee to investigate a park location in the southern Appalachians. Several members spoke of the advisability of immediate action on the matter, though others brought up the point that the acreage for a park location was not and would probably not be available. The matter was finally left up to the committee for immediate action of some kind.

John Howard, reported on several matters which he had investigated with a committee. The first, on a separate judicial district for Harlan and Bell, he reported as a laudable project if it could be carried out but stated further that he believed it unconstitutional. The second, on a fish hatchery here, he reported as a doubtful matter with little likelihood of success. Several announcements were made, and the Kiwanis were urged to attend the Girl Scout present at the Mairing next Tuesday night. Two sections, sung by the "Hammond Quartet," Warren Cunningham, Warren Tash, Miss Hill and Charles Smyth were enjoyed.

Judge Anderson was speaker of the day. He gave a short talk on an article from the Kiwanis Magazine. "What's worth doing is worth doing badly," he brought out, "even if one could not do it, the world with its accomplishments, he should not despair and should whatever he undertook as best he could." The general average of citizens all doing the best they could would make a "splendid town," he declared, adding the Kiwanians to measure themselves by the standard of "what would you love of church or club be like if every one was like me?" He closed by saying that the real value of the Kiwanis Club was a clearing house of ideas and that this would always be its chief feature.

MELLON TAX BILL THROWN ASIDE

The siding of Republican insurgent with Democrats to pass a tax reduction plan in opposition to the Mellon plan comes as a surprise to many people throughout the country. The Mellon plan was carefully worked out by the Secretary in a way which promised to put much more capital back into circulation. A poll by the Literary Digest of about a million voters shows the public strongly in favor of it. Yet the Democrat revenue bill has been passed in the House and the Mellon bill eliminated by the action of the insurgents.

Provisions of the Democratic bill follow:
Normal taxes of two per cent on incomes below $5,000; four per cent on incomes between $5,000 and $8-000; six per cent on incomes exceeding $8,000.

A graduated surtax scale beginning at one per cent on incomes between $12,000 and $14,000 up to a maximum of 44 per cent on incomes exceeding $92,000.

Exemption of $2,000 for single persons and $3,000 for heads of families.

Existing laws provides:
Normal taxes of 4 per cent on incomes up to $4,000 and 6 per cent above $8,000.

Surtaxes beginning at one per cent
on incomes between $6,000 and $10-000 and graduating progressively to 40 per cent on incomes in excess of $200,000.

Exemption of $1,000 for single person and $2,500 for heads of families.

The Mellon provision eliminated
The Treas. amendment project proposed:

Normal rates of three per cent on incomes up to $4,000 and 6 per cent on incomes exceeding $4,000.

Surtaxes ranging from 1 per cent
on incomes between $10,000 and $12-000, to 35 per cent on incomes exceeding $100,000.

No increase in personal tax exemptions.
Proposed:

"Cutting normal rates in half with surtaxes continuing at their present level.

No change in exemptions.
The Madden amendment voted down differed from the Mellon schedule in the maximum surtax rate which is sought to have fixed at 26 per cent.

HOW NORTH CAROLINA CAME BACK

The story of how a bond issue helped develop a southern state is told in an editorial on the annual page of the Kentucky Kernel, published weekly at the University of Kentucky. The editorial appeared in last week's edition. It follows:

A few years ago people thought of North Carolina as a mountainous southern state which had lost all during the war between the states without being able to regain its stride with the rest of the South after the days of reconstruction were over and the new South arose from the ashes of its former glory.

How wrong such an opinion would be now, although it would have been correct fifteen or twenty years ago, is shown by the address of Governor Cameron Morrison, of North Carolina, at the sixty-eighth Burns day celebration of the Caledonian Club at the Hotel Astor in New York city.

Governor Morrison described the comeback of ante-bellum glory and economic glory and economic prosperity, staged by North Carolina, "the home of more Scots than anywhere in the world except Scotland."

"I come not from a poor state, but from one that is rich and proud; that pays as much taxes to the federal government this year as all the rest of the South, and more than half a dozen western states; that has more cotton mills than Massachusetts and is building new ones; where the agricultural products are exceeded in value by only four other states in the Union

—I have included Texas as a state, though it is a republic that we conveniently annexed.

In his address the governor of the progressive southern state attributed the development of the state's resources to the men and women of Scottish birth or descent who retained the lessons of the motherland as a guide in the business and state affairs and the poetry of Robert Burns as a guide to the heart.

"We accept his explanation but at the same time recall that North Carolina entered upon a great program of road building and school improvement a few years ago. Did the roads and schools bring the economic development or did the economic development bring the roads and schools? We could answer, neither. They go hand in hand, the one always helps the other, the lack of either, retards the other.

"Kentucky is not inferior to North Carolina in natural resources and quite a few of its citizens are close to Governor Morrison's Scots in that state. Kentucky has long been known for its beautiful bluegrass, acricultural and stock-raising section, which must be far superior to the Highland hills of North Carolina. The Cumberland mountains and the western counties of the state hold as much coal and a supply of timber that compares favorably with that of North Carolina, not to mention its iron mills and oil fields.

"There is in Kentucky enough natural road materials, including asphalt beds and cement deposits to build a system of roads equal to that of any state in the Union and possession of such roads would assist development economically until the old Blue Grass state could stand up and boast with any of them about what it has done, is doing and will do."

SALESMAN SAM

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

Frank Vanderlip did the oil inquiry no good, suggesting that Harding got twice what the Merion Star was worth when he sold it, and by making this suggestion in such a way as to tie it up with the Fall scandal. Even the Democratic investigators seemed to dislike connecting a dead man's name with the case unless there was a mighty good reason for it, and so far as Vanderlip's testimony showed, they weren't one. So the Democrats sat back and let the Republicans "play horse" with the banker. Result—the last impression left on everybody's mind when the committee took a 10-day recess was the impression of a fizzle.

What Slush Fund
But the case will warm up again when the committee reconvenes. For one thing, there's that report of a million-dollar "slush" fund. The way the story goes, a lot of men in high political positions had been dabbling in oil. The leases Secretary Fall made affected the market so that they lost heavily. Fearing they'd make a fuss certain oil magnates are said to have dog up a million to pay back their losses. The suspense will be maddening unless names are mentioned.

All Mixed Up
So many details that nobody but an expert can understand are being dragged into the investigation now, that the investigators themselves are getting mixed. That's one reason they took a recess—to give them time to get their ideas straightened. It's also said that such tremendous pressure is being brought upon some of them to "lay off" the case that they're completely fuzzed by it and need time to rest.

Questions will be asked relative to a plan Fall is understood to have had to get Secretary Denby to turn over to him, to be leased, like Temp's Dome and Elk Hills, naval coal lands in Alaska. But this scheme "blew up," so it doesn't matter so much.

In Big Time
General Daves and his fellow experts have finished, in big time, their plan for the gold bank they think will put Germany on a sound financial basis. They admit it may not enable her to pay France all she wants, but they say it will come the nearest to it she can get, without ruining Europe.

This Looks Bad
France, rejoins Premier Poincare, is willing to talk the matter over, but—oh, grief!—he adds that she'll want to include in the conversation the matter of cancelling all the war debts.
This is what everybody's been afraid of. If France sticks to that idea there'll be nothing doing.

Only Bandits Left
The Mexican rebellion has frazzled out into a mere bandit war, here and there, President Obregon is engulfed as fast as he can, by killing the bandits. American warships are off the coast still, but there's no danger of trouble with Obregon—this country has helped him.

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton
BEANSTALK LAND

"I've got a letter for you," said Silver Wings

One day the Fairy Queen sent Silver Wings, her messenger to the meadow where Nancy and Nick, the Twins, were playing.

"Hello!" called Silver Wings, settling on a large purple thistle and looking exactly like a beautiful utterfly.

"Hello!" shouted the Twins. "Who are you and where are you?"

"I'm me and I'm here!" called Silver Wings, shaking with laughter until the little purple thistle blossom bobbed up and down like a bird-cage on a spring.

That attracted their attention and the Twins flew over and knelt down on the grass beside the thistle blossom, the better to talk to the little fairy.

"I've got a letter for you," said Silver Wings in a tiny voice. "It's from the Fairy Queen and I think you will like it. Twinkle-Pen, her secretary, told Nimble Toes, and Nimble Toes told me what was in it but it is a surprise so I won't tell you until you read all about it.
There!"

Oh, boys will be boys; and experience shows—
That boys will belong to a gang,
But organized right—as the scout master knows—

Their energy, vigor and tang
Will fashion a clean, snappy, likeable troop.
From reckless and impish young sprouts;
And aint' what's been done with our neighborhood group, They've gone and joined with the Scouts!

Their leader, whom grown-ups regard askance
As head of a mischievous crew,
Has found, with the Scouts, just a peach of a chance
To do what he's wanted to do;
He's boss of his troop, and he makes them behave
Without any questions or doubts,
He's learned that he needn't be bad
to be brave,
A lesson that's taught by the Scouts.

"Silver Wings has a magic bean, that came out of the same pod that Jack's did. Plant it any place at all.
And instantly another magic bean-stalk will grow to the sky."

"Jack's giant is not there," as you know. His sad fate taught 'all the other giants up there a lesson, so they all turned into jolly giants. And the giant children do the funniest things! I'm sure you will like the place.

"Lovingly,
"The Fairy Queen."
"Hurrah!" shouted both of the Twins. "Beanstalk Land!"

"Here's the bean," said Silver Wings, "and over yonder are your magic shoes. I must be going. Hope you have a nice time! Goodbye!"

And away she flew.

THE HOUSE AND THE ROAD

The little road, like me,
The little house says, stay,
And O it's home here at home,
But I must go away.

The little road, like me,
Would seek and turn to know:
And forth I must, to learn the things
The little road would show.

And go I must, my dears,
And journey while I may,
Though heart be sore for the little house.

That has no word but stay.

Maybe, no other way
Your child could ever know Why a little house would have you stay.

When a little road says, go.

Good Manners DON'T IGNORE NEIGHBOR

Seated at a table, with other guests, even though you have not been introduced to your neighbors, it is a point of etiquette to pass a remark now and then to each of them. There is no need of introducing yourself.

Mrs. J. W. Rogan on West Cumberland avenue, from 3 to 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The public is cordially invited to attend. The house will be appropriately decorated in Washington designs. A musical program is planned for the entertainment of the guests.

Luncheon Saturday for Insurance Agents

A district meeting of the Metropolitan Insurance company agents will be held with a luncheon at the Hotel Cumberland, Saturday, March 1. Representatives of Harlan, Pikeville, Lynch and other towns of Eastern Kentucky will be at the meeting. General business conditions and plans for increasing the service in this section will be discussed. A number of visitors will probably be invited to the luncheon.

To Spend Week-End in Lynch

Misses Henrietta Gordon, Margaret Davis and Frances Fitzpatrick went to Lynch this afternoon to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Purnell and attend the Washington's Birthday dance there Saturday night. Miss Davis and Miss Fitzpatrick will return Sunday night but Miss Gordon will stay several days longer, stopping on her return trip for a visit in Harlan.

Mrs. C. T. Clelland Hostess to Club

Mrs. C. T. Clelland was hostess to the members of the Thursday Afternoon Sewing Club this afternoon. The house was attractively decorated in George Washington's birthday design. The patriotic color scheme was carried out in the refreshments and in the favors, tiny red, white and blue baskets filled with Jordan almonds. A guessing contest was a feature of the afternoon. Guests were: Mrs. Hugh Allen, Mrs. M. S. Callison, Mrs. John Chesney, Mrs. H. E. Dinger, Mrs. H. H. Hutchison, Mrs. Joe Faulconer, Mrs. F. D. Hart, Jr., Mrs. W. R. Pool, Mrs. J. P. Edmunds, Mrs. E. C. Lyons, Mrs. Ernest Warren and Mrs. Joe Smith.

BETTER SPEECH WEEK

She awoke with her stately air,
Her swish of silken gown;
But when she said "you was,"
Right there
My high esteem slumped down.

Upon a charming stranger, then
My rapturous glance was bent,
He seemed the prince of gentlemen,
Till he said "has went."

A lovely woman drew my gaze,
With manners like a queen,
She beguiled all my words of praise,
But, ah, she said "I seen."

A modest maid of fairest face
I might describe but won't,
For suddenly she fell from grace—
Tipped on the phrase "it don't."

Myself? I fear to say a word Lest I should "make a break."
'Tis better to be seen than heard—
I'm not above mistake.

WHEN HAPPY ENDING IS ABANDONED-- "GOD HELP AMERICA!" SAYS LASKY

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21.—"God help America," and especially its youth, if the time ever comes when it generally accepts the unhappy ending in its motion picture entertainment.

"For the unhappy ending in pictures will not be popular until it has become part of the national psychology. And that means a people bogged down, listless, hopeless, cynical, a people decadent."

This is the considered comment of Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of Famous Players-Lasky in charge of production, regarding the industry as an oracle. "It is Lasky's business to sense public trends so that they may be reflected in the firm's product."

"It will come in any day—this ap probation of the unhappy ending," he predicts. "If and when it does, America and all it has stood for will be utterly changed."

"We would, then, be like those countries which today cry out for our help, for the reviving touch of our energy and optimism; countries long steeped in misanthropy."

"The happy ending connotes courage, confidence, buoyancy."

"Popular entertainment is that which has these elements; which stimulates to success, to triumph, to self-justification, whether in pictures or other mediums."

"This nation, thank goodness, is too young to accept the melancholy philosophy of abnegation, failure and death, no matter how exemplified."

Jesse Lasky and his corps of trained observers feel the public pulse through careful check-up on new theatrical productions, by studying magazines and books of wide range, newspaper headlines and editorials, domestic and foreign, the activities of women, vogue in dress, social and economic groupings; human expression and reactions in fields remote as well as proximate to the business of motion picture production. He has been doing that intensively for 20 years.

He learned a bitter but valuable lesson by outguessing the French cabaret to New York, losing a small fortune when his "Polles Bergere" failed because this country wasn't ready for that type of entertainment.

"One must know how to guess rather than outguess the public in when to let go an ephemeral vogue and to develop something that promises a longer cycle."

"The happy ending in American pictures is here for a long stay."

The popularity of the "Enemies of Women" puzzle contest is indicated by the fact that twelve correct solutions of the picture puzzle were submitted to C. O. Brown, manager of the Manring theatre, last night. David Weinstein was the first to bring in his solution; he was waiting at the window at 7 o'clock when Mr. Brown went to the theatre.

The twelve winners of the contest, in the order in which the solutions were submitted, follow: David Weinstein, J. Saks, Helen Stopinski, Mrs. F. C. Broadling, Clyde Maddix, Mrs. John Ratcliffe, Miss Ellen Williams, Mrs. Roy Williams, Mrs. Joe Faulconer, Homer Griffith, Mrs. S. H. Moyer and Sam Stern.

Each of the winners received two tickets to "Enemies of Women." Through all of them had the pictures correctly joined, making a completely furnished kitchen; the pictures submitted by the following persons deserve special mention: Mrs. Roy CLEVELAND, Feb. 20.—The road to artistic fame isn't half as rough as it used to be.

Obstacles heretofore impeding the onward march of youthful genius are being rolled aside by the big city museums.

Here in Cleveland, for instance, at the Museum of Art, 28,000 public school pupils—some only fifth graders—are learning to appreciate things really cultural and artistic.

With their teachers they come to hear the histories of famous old paintings and the stories of the struggles of old Venetian and early American masters.

In the old Roman garden, there's a seraph of tiny shoes over the discolored tiles which once resounded with the pit-a-pat of the Empress Livia's supple feet.

And stately palms, replicas of those that were strewn along Jerusalem's streets in the day of Nazareth came in to celebrate the Passover, these 20th century youngsters breathe the atmosphere of Caesar's day.

Childhood dreams are revealed to ready listeners. Here is a boy who wants to be a great painter. A girl who aspires to become a pianist of renown and a lad who has hopes of some day being another Borghese, St. Gaudens or Tit.

Miss Anna V. Horton, supervisor of children's work, and her assistant, Miss Katherine Gibson and Miss Emma Mullin, are quick to single out these juvenile prodigies.

When a child displays any exceptional aptitude, he is transferred to one of the special classes. These meet every Saturday morning for an hour's study under the direction of Mrs. Winifred H. Mills.

A stereopticon print is flashed on the front wall in the darkened classroom. There's a rustle of paper and little heads bob down and little hands start sketching outlines of forgotten oriental tapestries, other work of art.

Mrs. Mills' classes are limited to 40. But there's another group of 40 alternates.

All are striving for scholarships, nearly a score of which are given each year by the Cleveland Art Institute.

It is to the winners of these—and winners of similar awards in other cities where the same work is going on—to whom America is looking for its master painters, sculptors and musicians of another generation.

"Of course all these thousands of children are not destined to attain fame in arts," Miss Horton says. "But

OIL QUIZ WAITS TO CLEAR ROAD FOR "BIG GAME"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—When the Walsh oil land leasing investigation gets under way again, Feb. 28.—committee members hope to have the switches to side lines located and closed and the main track cleared.

With the rush of new developments it has been necessary to make excursions of exploration and reconnaissance whenever a new track or branch line was encountered. One never could tell where these might lead.

These side excursions, however, have so spread the scope of the inquiry and scattered the testimony as to confuse the real issue—were the transfers and leases of the naval lands illegal and were they entered into fraudulently, criminally and as a result of collusion.

The recess taken by the committee will give the investigators an opportunity to brief and analyze the evidence already produced. It will enable them to concentrate their search, when they meet again, on the big game they set out to stalk.

Chief witness, when the committee resumes its session, of course, will be Harry F. Sinclair. He will be asked to explain his financial transactions with Former Secretary Fall and his split with Bonfils, Slack and the Pioneer oil company on the Teapot Dome deal.

Edward W. McClean, Washington publisher and capitalist, will be given a chance to tell again the story of the mysterious $100,000 loan.

Carl W. Schuyler of Denver will be called to relate further the story of Sinclair's arrangement to split his profits from Teapot Dome with persons and concerns supposedly having prior claims to the lands.

James Sloan, former White House secret service operative, now a stock broker, Samuel Untermyer and W. B. Hibbs, brokers, are slated for questioning.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Feb. 19.—A double shadow hangs over Italy D.

tioning on stock market activities of high Washington officials and on dummy accounts supposedly carried for them.

Thomas Lee, oil operator, probably will be called to tell of oil interferences in the settlement of our relations with Mexico.

The recess does not mean the approximate end of the hearings. It only means a delay while the investigators are marshaling their guns for a concentrated drive on a few big conclusive facts needed to clinch their case.

Radio Dealers Here Can't Keep Supplied

That radio is rapidly gaining in popularity here is indicated by the fact that local dealers cannot supply the demands for accessories. This condition prevails throughout the country and manufacturing plants cannot get make enough to satisfy the demand.

Times are often ruined within a short time by improper experimentation, dealers say, though they will last a year with proper care. Batteries should also last for several months.

It is now possible to buy complete radio sets from thirty to forty dollars. The low price is causing increasing sales here. It is estimated that there are more than a hundred radio owners here now. Local users have been reporting excellent service this winter.

"I haven't long to go," he says. "And I want my innocence established not for my own sake but for that of the son who will survive me. My conscience is as clear as my wife's."

The above photos show Smith, the farmer, band musician and church leader, and the crowd at the farm when the body was exhumed.

GLIMPSES OF THE OLD WORLD The World's Highest Aerial Cableway

Starting from Chamonix in French Alps, will carry passengers to a height of 12,600 feet. Cars travel at speed of 492 feet per minute. Human "wheels" and "tractors," in snow 30 inches deep in August, hauled heavy materials by cable and pulleys in world's latest engineering feat. Magnificent views over Europe's highest peaks and glaciers.

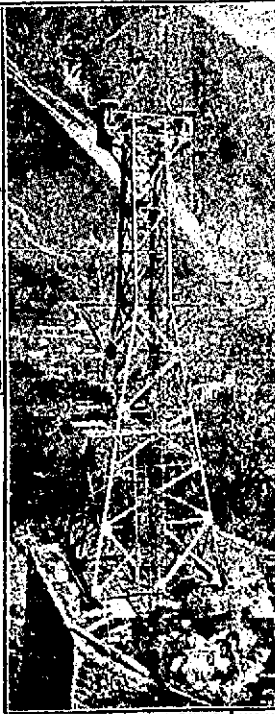

The Aiguille du Midi (12,608 ft.). Terminal Point of the Aerial Cableway.

By VICTOR PIEDMONT

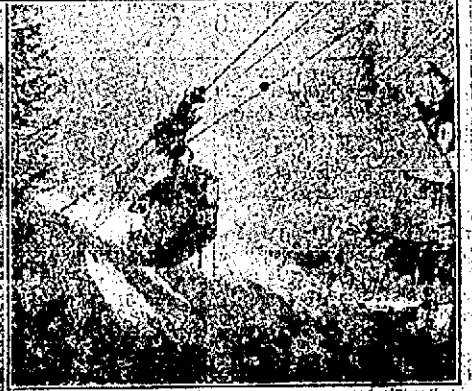

The first section of the world's highest aerial cableway has just been opened to traffic at Chamonix in the French Alps, about nine hours from Paris by the P. L. M. Railway. The line starts at the "Pilgrim's Station," 3474 feet above sea level. When completed it will land passengers squarely on top of the "Aiguille du Midi" at a height of 12,608 feet, which is only 3000 feet or so below the summit of nearby Mt. Blanc, the highest peak in Europe. Not far below the Aiguille du Midi, at the last intermediate station, called the "Col du Midi," a large modern hotel will be erected, from the terrace of which visitors will dominate one of the most extensive and impressive mountain scenes imaginable, over the jumbled mass of peaks and glaciers of the French and Italian Alps.

The first section of the cableway, opened in December last, is comparatively easy, the grade being only 17%; but the next stretch, over which traffic will run this summer, is far more rugged and steep, the grade here being 50%, while the third section, to be put in operation next year, will surmount precipitous rocks and gullies on a 72% grade. From there on the grade will be uniformly steep, anywhere from 41% to 69%.

From the very beginning the task has been gigantic. Service paths had to be blasted and hewn out of the rock and around the sheer cliffs; transformers and other pieces of machinery, that often weighed 1100 lbs. each, had to be hoisted by sheer man power. In 1910 it took 50 men ten days of heaving and hauling to carry a transformer 1500 feet; the month was August, yet the snow was two feet deep on the ground at that altitude. Mrs. Oberlin, weighing some 40 lbs. to the yard, were spun out to dizzy heights with the help of the whirling motors of trucks solidly anchored to masonry; the steel pillars of the line were securely embedded in bases built on almost vertical surfaces

How steel pillars were erected—on bases of granite blocks shaped like a ship. In background: the Chamonix Valley.

These cars carry 18 passengers at 5 1/2 miles an hour without a trace of jolts or jars.

of granite rocks and cliffs. An idea of the enormous strength required of these bases is given by the impacts which they may be called upon to withstand at any time.

A medium-sized avalanche in this part of the Alps contains nearly 200,000 cubic yards of snow mixed with boulders often several yards in diameter and with trunks of trees broken off or uprooted and carrying tons of soil along with their roots. Avalanches usually start from heights near the 10,000 ft. level, gathering weight and speed all the way to the 3000 ft. line, which is where they usually smash themselves. They crash through this 7000-ft. fall in from 8 to 20 seconds. The "dust avalanches" are even swifter and just as deadly; they consist mainly of powdery snow and icicles and often fall 3500 feet in two seconds; whole forests have been laid low by the tremendous force of the air thus violently displaced, sometimes 1500 feet away from the direct path of the avalanche.

To guard against these perils, ramparts attaining a volume of 327 cubic yards of solid masonry have been built around the bases of the steel pillars; shaped and placed so that any avalanche striking against them will be split open like a wave by the prow of a ship.

The cars run along two parallel cables about 13 feet apart from each other, at a height from the ground of from 40 to 100 feet. They carry eighteen passengers at a speed of 8.2 feet per second, roughly equivalent to 5 1/2 miles an hour, allowing full enjoyment of the gorgeous panorama. When fully loaded, each car weighs about 4 1/2 metric tons, but so light are the cables and so delicately adjusted is the mechanism that the cars go smoothly and quietly with never a jolt or jar. A special cable acts as an automatic check to the speed of the car in case of a break in the main cable. Such a contingency is hardly likely, however, because the strength of the main cable is ten times, and that of the other cables eight times, as great as any strain which can be placed upon them by the utmost requirements of service.

NEWS FROM HARLAN AND VICINITY

POWELL'S VALLEY, Tenn., Feb. 21.—Women of this section are planning to go into the poultry raising industry on a somewhat extensive scale this spring. So many of them have acquired baby chicks that it seems that an epidemic of "chicken fever" has broken out here.

Those who have recently ordered baby chicks are: Mrs. Stella Thomas, Mrs. Grover Sharp, Mrs. Gideon Sharp, Mrs. Alfred Sharp, Mrs. E. B. Farris, Mrs. J. T. Thomas, Mrs. Minnie Thomas and Mrs. W. L. Sharp. Some of them are buying incubators and brooders and preparing for an early business.

The Providence school has closed a very successful eight months' term under the splendid management of Miss Bertha Wright.

Those attending the Blackstone school from the valley were: Misses Ruby and Elizabeth Farris, Miss Elsie Gibson, Miss Eula Sharp, Miss Joe Leo Bruce, Arnold Gibson, Prof. Wallace and Prof. Henry Rogers.

Miss Mary Lee Yokum will spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Yokum.

Robert Umfleet obtained marriage license last week to marry Miss L. G. Gorton.

Karl Mulan has accepted a position at Wells Springs with the Sharp and Rose lumber company.

HUNG JURY IN SUIT TO GET BALANCE ON TRUCK

HARLAN, Feb. 21.—The case of J. Varick vs. A. M. Gregory and others, was taken up in the Circuit Court yesterday, which resulted in a hung jury. Mr. Varick is from Tipton county, Ga., and came here last June on business. He claimed to have sold one Dodge truck to the Cumberland Ice and Storage company, composed of A. M. Gregory and others, and that they refused to pay him a balance of $400. The jury remained out for about 40 minutes, and the foreman declared it was impossible to arrive at a verdict.

BRIDGETON, N. J., Feb. 20.—The "eye for an eye" preachment of the ages makes an 83-year-old man ready to sacrifice the life of his son to avenge the death of his grandchild.

It is a tragedy of hate that has arisen in the wake of love turned stone-cold by murder. Its principals are:

Emma Dickson, 15, whose mutilated body was found on a road not far from her home, nine days after her disappearance last September.

Thompson Dickson, 55, the girl's father, now lodged in the county jail charged with her murder by his own father.

Benjamin Dickson, 83, whose five months' struggle between paternal love and conscience has brought him close to death's door.

The three lived together in a little house at Bricksboro, not far from here. The girl was a freshman at the Millville high school. The men were caretakers of an estate of a wealthy Philadelphia lawyer.

One day the girl disappeared. More than a week later her body was found on a road between Elizabeth and Millville. Her skull had been crushed and her right arm broken.

The hub cap of an automobile was found nearby. The police believed that she had been taken for an auto ride was then beaten to death. An arrest was made. But the charges were then dropped.

Months went by. The authorities seemed stumped. Then one day the old grandfather sent for his pastor.

"I have been a Christian all my life, and I hope to die one," he said. "For the past two weeks I have been so troubled that I hardly know? I so troubled that I wasn't able to sleep."

The Grandfather's Story

Then, according to the police, he told this story in detail.

"The night of the murder, Emma left home at 7 o'clock to go to a dairy half a mile away for milk. An hour passed and she did not return. The grapes she was cooking to make jelly began to burn.

"Her father became angry. He went out to look for her."

The grandfather, according to this story, was in the house at the time. Suddenly, he says, he heard a scream.

Then—

The old man became excited as he

LAST SENTENCED FIRST TO DEATH

Chambers and Archie, convicted Murderers, to Chair in March.

Associated Press

EDDYVILLE, Feb. 20.—Of the seven men in the Kentucky penitentiary under sentence of death here, it appears that the last two of them to be sentenced may be the first two of the condemned men to die, according to Warden John B. Chilton. These men are William Chambers, negro, of Glasgow, and Samuel Archie, of Hickman, both convicted of murder.

Chambers' date of execution is set for March 7. Warden Chilton said, and Archie's for March 21, while the other five men, although having heard the death sentence pronounced in court for them, have in most instances had the execution order suspended by the Court of Appeals before which both their cases now have been taken.

In the case of Frank Thomas, 71, of Louisville, oldest man ever sentenced to be executed in Kentucky, the warden said his execution was suspended upon the order of Governor petition for rehearing in the Court of Appeals with regard to his sanity. Thomas was charged with having killed three men, all at different times, within 10 feet of the same spot on the outskirts of Louisville.

Charles Miller, negro, of Brackenridge county, and Charles Bryant and George Bolin, both of Breathitt county, all have their cases at present before the Court of Appeals.

Recently, however, this court upheld the decision of the lower court in the case of George Welke, Sr., of Louisville, and his death sentence, for the near future stands.

Archie was convicted of the murder of his wife, and Chambers of the murder of Charles Bybee, of Bowling Green.

TORY UNIVERSITY OFFERS SCHOLARSHIP FOR ESSAY

"What is to College" is the subject of an essay contest that is being proposed by the University of Kentucky. All seniors in southern accredited high schools and secondary schools are eligible to compete.

For the best essay written in English, a scholarship covering one year's tuition to Western college will be given and a year's tuition at Emory university is offered to the boy submitting the winning essay. The winner will be awarded in the winter of next year.

The purpose of the contest is to stimulate interest in college life among the high school students and to encourage good writing. Essays must be in the hands of the state chairman by March 1.

BROTHER-LOVE BRINGS DEATH TO JOE DIAMOND

Morris Diamond (left), his brother, Joe (right), and David, Morris' four-year-old motherless son, the last male Diamond heir.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 21. — Brother love, sordid though it is, is sending two boys to their doom. F. MORRIS Diamond, 27, and Joe, 21,

Simple Home Treatment for Sore Throat

Raw, Sore, Inflamed Throats Can Be Greatly Relieved By Use of this Vaporizing Salve.

Here is a simple yet effective method to treat a sore throat. Gargle with warm salt water three times daily. Also swallow slowly every few hours a teaspoonful of Vicks.

At night apply Vicks over the throat and upper chest, rubbing well in. Then spread on thickly and cover with a warm flannel cloth.

The body heat releases the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, etc.—in the form of vapors and these vapors, inhaled all night long, go directly to the affected parts.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed thru and stimulates the skin like a liniment, or plaster drawing out the soreness and pain.

Vicks is equally good for hoarseness, tonsillitis, head and chest colds, and for the croupy colds of children.

his brother, who love each other dearly and have heroically demonstrated it, have been convicted of first-degree murder of two bank messengers, who were robbed of $13,000.

They await a sentence that can be nothing but death.

Morris Diamond, thick set and the leader, was the idol of his kid brother, Joe, who followed in the wake of his erring brother with a love of a hero worshipper, misdirected in this case.

That Joe's misguided hero love for his brother assumed that of a watchdog instead of an initiator, both might be enjoying a slice of the comfortable home in Be-on-hurst, where the brothers lived with their mother, 52, and a widow, and their four sisters—not to mention little David, the motherless four-year-old son of Morris.

But Joe, a slunk of Broadway cut, blindly followed the wiles of Morris, thick set, an admitted gambler and a leader.

"Do anything you want to me, but don't do anything to the kid," Morris said to detectives after his arrest.

"Don't let Morris sacrifice himself for me," countered the kid.

Morris' only worry is Joe. Joe is too young to worry. He merely watches every play of bravado Morris displays.

With a poker face, Morris snipped back answers as he was tried in court. But when Joe's name was brought into questioning, Morris faltered and then cracked. Hysterically he shouted Joe's innocence. It was a task for the court to subdue him. When Joe took the stand in his trial in a final attempt to save off the electric chair, both he and his attorney passed the burden of blame to brother Morris.

Somewhat Joe's words didn't ring true and sincere. They didn't convince the jury which convicted him.

When his verdict was announced, Joe appeared relieved that he would remain with his brother even in the shadow of death.

At 21, when he might be preparing to cast his first vote, he undoubtedly will follow the brother he worshipped to the electric chair—game, blind and falsely heroic to the end.

It probably is easier for Joe—he merely follows. Morris has been the leader, and he seems to realize that it was he who led his young brother astray.

With the passing of the two, there is but one male left to preserve the unhappy family for posterity. He is tiny, tow-headed David, who weeps but knows not why.

POLICE START COLLECTION OF BACK FINES IN CITY

Campaign for the collection of back fines has been started by the police department. Some of these are being collected, though a great part of them are uncollectible, it is believed.

The latter part consists of fines levied against persons who have left town, of those who are seriously ill or of persons who are too poor to pay. In some instances, men who owe fines to the police court work for the city in hauling slag or rubbish until the indebtedness is settled.

NOON MAIL TO PINEVILLE WILL GIVE BETTER SERVICE

Beginning today a closed mail pouch service to Pineville on train No. 12 at 12:35 p. m. will be instituted by the Middlesboro postoffice.

All members of the troop will take part in the entertainment. The public is urged to attend; by so doing they will not only encourage the Girl Scouts work but will also enjoy a program of unusual quality.

COVINGTON FAILS TO RE-DUCE CIRCUIS LICENSES

Associated Press. COVINGTON, Feb. 20. — A proposed reduction in the cost of circus licenses in Kentucky from $700 to $100 a day was opposed by city commissioners by a vote of 3 to 2. Representatives of a traveling circus petitioned for the reduction on the ground that the present fee is prohibitive and causes big tags to give Covington a wide berth.
